

God's people did not listen to God, so God let their enemies—the Philistines—rule over them. God's people said, "God, save us!"

One day, an angel said a baby named Samson would grow up and help save God's people from their enemies. God's rule for Samson was "Don't cut your hair."

Samson grew up and was strong. A woman named Delilah asked, “Why are you so strong?” Samson would not tell her. Finally, he said, “If you cut my hair, I will be weak.”

One night, Delilah had Samson's hair cut. When Samson woke up, he was weak. The Philistines captured Samson.

His hair grew again, and he prayed. God made him strong again. Samson knocked down the temple, and the Philistines died. Samson died too, but he saved God's people.
